CPYRGHT We Forfeited Berlin

To the N. Y. Herald Tribune:

May I congratulate you on John Crosby's column "Embodiment of Evil."

From Sept. 1, 1945, to the end of Oct. 1947, I was chief of food and agriculture for the U. S. Zone of Germany and U. S. government representative for these same matters at the four-power level in Berlin. From this favorable position I watched for more than two years the struggle for power over Berlin and Germany by the two pole powers, and at times I participated in this struggle.

The Soviet Union and the United States each sought to create a Germany in its own image and both sought to
